BEING THE SECOND DECENNIAL SUPPLEMENT TO THE CATALOGUE OF PARLIAMENTARY PAPERS, 1801-1900

[1922.]

'The public hears a great deal of Blue Books, of their dullness and heaviness; nevertheless, they contain many curious facts, the germs of new laws. They give information of new discoveries; they are official records of the complaints of society; they gather from all quarters illustrations of the evils which Parliament is asked to remedy; they almost invariably refer to what is novel, and are very often the first authentic accounts published of the actual progress of society, or the formation of those new phases with which it is the duty of legislation especially to deal.'

'I do not think there is any one who more values the labours of Parliamentary Committees than myself. They obtain for the country an extraordinary mass of valuable information which probably would not otherwise be at hand, or available; and formed as they necessarily are of chosen men from the two most important bodies of the State, their Reports are pregnant with prudent and sagacious suggestions for the improvement of the administration of affairs.' —Lord Beaconsfield: 'Hansard's Debates,' vol. 235, page 1478.

'Knowledge is of two kinds. We know a subject ourselves or we know where we can find information upon it. When we inquire into any subject, the first thing we have to do is to know what books have treated of it.'—Samuel Johnson.

CATALOGUE

Parliamentary Papers

1801-1900

A General Catalogue of the principal Parliamentary Reports and Papers published during the Nineteenth Century, also a few of earlier date, with Prices, and in most cases Analysis of Contents. Printed with wide margins for convenience of Librarians and others wishing to make notes, shelf, or reference numbers, etc.

326 pp. Medium 4to. Buckram. 15s.

DECENNIAL SUPPLEMENT, 1901-1910

10s.

SOME PRESS OPINIONS

Manchester Guardian: 'It deals with a department of bibliography that has been much neglected, and it will be of great service to serious students of politics. An immense amount of useful material is embedded in the widely diverse publications to which the common name of "Parliamentary Papers" is given, but it is sometimes very difficult to ascertain the particular paper containing the information that one may desire. . . . Many besides ourselves will be grateful for this catalogue.'

Daily Chronicle: 'Even a cursory examination of the titles and the briefs of contents reveals a store of material serviceable to the public man, the librarian, and the thoughtful reader who would extend and rectify his knowledge of modern history. . . . Taken altogether, the index is distinctly valuable.'

Bookseller: 'A substantial volume. . . . The form adopted, we think, makes the matter more easy of reference than is the case in the Official General Indexes, and the publication should be of value to those interested in political and social questions. Paper with wide margins has been used for the convenience of librarians, who will thus be enabled to place the press-mark, shelf, or reference number against any of the papers they may have in their possession.'

Library World: 'This is an indispensable work for public libraries, whether they have sets of the Parliamentary Papers or not. It is largely designed for the use of libraries, and gives an immense amount of valuable information on every subject which has come before Parliament during the past hundred years. The price is ridiculously small, and no library of any kind should neglect to secure this admirably-arranged catalogue.'

Selections from P. S. King & Son's Catalogue

ELEMENTS OF STATISTICS

By A. L. Bowley, Sc.D., F.S.S., Professor of Statistics in the University of London. Fourth Edition. Revised and considerably extended, 24s. Also in Two Vols., Part I. General Elementary Methods, 16s.; Part II. Applications of Mathematics to Statistics, 12s. 6d.

Bankers' Magazine: 'The new Edition is particularly suitable for Actuarial Students.'

WEALTH AND TAXABLE CAPACITY

By Sir Josiah Stamp, K.B.E., D.Sc., Guy Medalist of the Royal Statistical Society, and late of the Inland Revenue Department. Being the Newmarch Lectures of 1920–21. 10s. 6d. Postage, 9d.

Times: 'Full of interesting matter, and worth the careful consideration of all interested in economic and social problems.'

Westminster Gazette: 'On what may be called "real" statistics, Sir Josiah Stamp is probably, with Professor Bowley, the greatest living authority . . . set out with admirable lucidity and perfect detachment, and yet in a style that is uniformly alert and readable, are the data upon which alone a sound judgment can be formed as to the National Income, the National Expenditure, and the limits of Taxable Capacity.'

INSURANCE AGAINST UNEMPLOYMENT
With special reference to British and American Conditions.

By Joseph L. Cohen, B.A. (Cantab.), M.A. (Columbia Univ.), Gilder Fellow in Economics. 18s. Postage 1s.

British Dominions Trade: '. . . He has dealt with an extremely complex problem from A to Z, leaving no point untouched, and presenting the results of his widespread research with a pen that is never dull but is always instructive and illuminating. . . . it is a book to be read by all who would familiarize themselves with the progress and expansion of one of the most remarkable movements of modern times.'

REPARATIONS, TRADE AND FOREIGN EXCHANGE

By L. L. B. Angas, M.A. 12s. 6d. Postage 9d.

Daily Telegraph: 'The book contains one of the best treatments of domestic and international economics. Politicians, economists, and business men will find much to interest them in this work.

PRINCIPLES OF COMPARATIVE ECONOMICS

By Radhakamal Mukerjee, M.A., Ph.D., Professor of Economics and Sociology, Lucknow. With Preface in French by Raphaël-Georges Lévy, with English Translation. Vol. I, 364 pp., 15s. Vol. II, 452 pp., 18s.

In the first volume the author analyses economic principles in the light of Biology and Social Psychology; in the second he examines the situation in India and the East generally.

THE FOUNDERS OF POLITICAL ECONOMY

By Jan St. Lewinski, D.Ec.Sc., Professor of Political Economy at the University of Lublin, Poland. Author of 'Origin of Property.' 6s. 6d. Postage 6d.

Economist: 'Students who have mastered the elements of economics will find much to interest and a good deal to stimulate them.'

Saturday Review: 'An interesting survey of the early gropings towards the discovery of economic laws . . . a refreshment to escape from the elusive obscurities of purchase-price parities to the common-sense simplicities of the Early Fathers, as sympathetically expounded with much more besides.'

SOCIALISATION IN THEORY AND PRACTICE

By Heinrich Ströbel. Translated by H. J. Stenning. 10s. 6d.

The Author is an eminent German Socialist, who was Finance Minister in the Prussian Revolutionary Government of 1918; he summarizes the attempts made to put Socialist principles into practice in Russia, Hungary, and Germany.

The book is a mine of information upon Sociological experiments.
